

HAWAIIAN VOLCANOES

Not Affected by a Disturbance Elsewhere.

While all the signs are for seismic disturbances here, those who have studied the situation, not only recently but for many years, cannot see how there may be any connection between the outbreak in the West Indies and the volcanoes here, and consequently are not inclined to the opinion that there will be an outbreak of Kilauea, or if it does come that it will be due in any way to the St. Pierre disaster. In other words, Pelee will not stir up Pele.

Dr. Sereno Bishop said last evening that in his opinion there was no possible connection between the volcanoes of the earth, in that there was no record of the tracing of activity in one point to a similar or related outbreak elsewhere. Of course, he said, where there are many volcanoes in one chain of mountains the activity of one may have the effect of producing activity in another. A most curious instance of the relation of two volcanoes which are in contiguity was shown when Mauna Loa was in eruption while Kilauea was active. As soon as the flow began in the first named volcano there was a fall in the lava in the second. This was recorded by the then keeper of the Volcano House, who saw his prosperity fading away. The fall was very small, however, and did not last long, but it served to show the relation between the two mountains. These volcanoes are only twenty-five miles apart.

The only instance where there might be said to be connection between phenomena recorded here, was when there was in the Caroline Islands a great hurricane. The area of the storm may have reached these islands, for there was a period when the barometer was very low. The result was that there was a distinct effect noticed upon Kilauea. The fact that the barometer was so low that the pressure upon the earth's surface was so slight as compared with previous times, may have had this effect, in the opinion of Dr. Bishop.

Professor Curtis J. Lyons believes there are many causes which might operate just now toward volcanic action, though the exact effect of the phenomena is not known. Professor Lyons has previously called attention to the prevalence of volcanic action during the periods of the less sun spots, but this is one which covers something like two years during the sun spot period of eleven years. Then again the present is a peculiar period, when the planets are in closer relation than usual with the earth. Whether or not these peculiarities may have any effect upon the surface of the earth is something which science is not as yet perfectly familiar.

THEY THINK WE HAVE COLD FEET

A representative of the baseball nine of the U. S. S. Manila called at The Advertiser office yesterday and asked that a challenge be issued on behalf of the team to play any baseball nine in Honolulu. The gunboat's nine was considered one of the best in the Philippines and won a long series of good games out there.

Speaking to a reporter yesterday the representative of the team said: "When we arrived here we heard many good reports concerning the Honolulu ball teams. So good, in fact, were these reports that they made the Manilas quite eager to arrange a game. Unfortunately, however, our team is a very strong one and your boys must have been made aware of the fact, as we have been unable to get a team to play us. Kindly notify the public that we stand ready to meet any team in the Islands."

The above is a very sporting challenge, if just a trifle egotistical, and if a game could be arranged it would surely draw a good gate. It seems a pity that such a good nine should be allowed to depart from these shores, hungry for a game. The Manila is scheduled to sail on Sunday morning, however, so that there is not much time left.

A Home Wedding.

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of J. Koo, when his niece, Miss Caroline Speckman, was united in marriage to Sylvester P. Correa, Rev. E. S. Timoteo officiating. Only the immediate friends and relatives of the bride and groom were present. Following the ceremony the guests sat down to an elaborate wedding feast, which was much enjoyed. The bride was educated in the local schools and is a handsome and popular young lady, with a large circle of friends. The groom is employed by the Hawaiian Gazette Co. as a linotype operator, having been in that service for eight years. Mrs. and Mrs. Correa received a large number of beautiful and useful presents from their numerous friends.

DEATH OF DAVID KANEWANUI, EDITOR OF WEEKLY KUOKOA

THE LATE DAVID KANEWANUI.

THE many friends of David Kanewanui will learn with sorrow of his death, as the result of the gunshot wound received the evening of May 6. It occurred early yesterday afternoon at the Queen's Hospital. David Kanewanui was born on the Island of Kahai twenty-six years ago. He graduated from Kamehameha School in 1894 and shortly afterwards accepted a position as teacher in the school at Olowalu, where he taught for two years. From Olowalu he went to the Hilo Boarding School, where he taught for another two years, coming from there to Honolulu to take a clerkship in the Auditor's office.

Something over a year ago the Gazette Company was fortunate enough to secure his services as editor of the Nupepa Kuokoa, which position he filled with ability up to the time of the accident.

The popularity and circulation of the Kuokoa grew under his editorship, for his heart was in his work and he felt that he was doing something for his people. All subjects were handled for what he believed to be the best interests of the Hawaiians, and this being recognized, gave him great influence.

He was always courteous and pleasant and was a great favorite with his co-workers and with the young Hawaiians, many of whom looked to him for counsel and advice.

A fine baseball player, he was a member of the Kamehameha team and was captain of the Hawaiian Gazette Co.'s team.

The funeral, to be announced after the post-mortem, will take place from Kamehameha chapel.

WANT TO HAVE HAWAIIANS GIVEN PLACES IN NAVY

Proposed That There Be a Recruiting Station Opened Here for the Shipping of Men.

PRELIMINARY steps are being taken for the securing from the Navy Department of the privilege of enlisting Hawaiians for service in the Navy at this port. The prospects are that if the letters which are going forward to the Navy Department are given due weight, the Iroquois will be designated as a temporary receiving ship, and will be allowed to keep about a dozen men ready for draft into the forces of any passing vessel or for sending forward to the training station at Yerba Buena, in San Francisco Bay. The proposal is one which has grown out of the success achieved by the enlistment of Hawaiians upon the local vessels.

Admiral Merry, without doubt, will be asked to report upon the advisability of the following such a course and it is understood that he will favor it. Since the crew of the Iroquois has been augmented by the enlistment of Hawaiian youths, the commander of the station ship, Lieutenant Rodman, has been making most flattering recommendations of the native youth as sailors, and his help may be counted upon for the furthering of the plan, in case the department desires to add Honolulu to its list of recruiting stations.

The methods which are followed in such cases on the mainland are the designation of the recruiting station and the officer who shall be authorized to enlist men for the service. This would be an easy matter here for with the station ship, which has accommodations for ten more men, usually its commandant, who is a keen judge of men and most thoroughly equipped for the service, and the constant demands made here for sailors, there seems to be nothing wanting to make the station complete.

The future for men who enlist in the Navy seems to be very bright at this time. There are many places where the new man may hope to find himself in line for promotion. The Hawaiians who have up to this time gone into the Navy have proved to be first class men and all are in line for promotion. The steps to warrants are rapid and there are so many special fields which offer opportunities to young men, that the career is at once inviting and promising.

The trades places, as carpenters and sailmakers, the special duty places as boatswain mates and gunners' mates all are open for the young men who show great aptitude for the work, and there seems every reason to believe that there would be small delay before the Hawaiian youth, bred to the sea, a good boatman before he began to learn the ship routine, and usually a handy man about the vessel, should succeed from the first.

Should the Navy Department decide to act upon the suggestions which are being made to it, and authorize the enlistment of men here, there would be many demands upon the receiving ship. Every vessel which has entered the port west or south bound has wanted men, and there have been many efforts made by the captains of ships to secure Hawaiians. Thus the men would find themselves right in the thick of training without service at Goat Island or any of the ships which are primarily for that purpose.

HAWAIIAN MISSION CHILDREN'S SOCIETY CELEBRATES ITS GOLDEN JUBILEE

was soon joined by her older sister, Elizabeth, who afterwards succeeded her as principal.

Other girls' schools grew and prospered. While Miss Ogden's, at Makiki, was disbanded in '69, and that of Rev. O. H. Gulick was closed when he left Wailua in 1870, the latter was soon reopened by Miss Mary E. Green. The seminary at Makawao, previously established by C. B. Andrews in '61, and carried on by the Greens from '66 to '69, when it was destroyed by fire, was reopened by Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Anderson and Miss Helen Carpenter in 1870, since when it has had a most successful career.

The financial features of this period are interesting. The receipts of the treasury show a general increase during the ten years, as follows: $669.83, $400.48, $432.44, $571.32, $537.17, $773.59, $1018.75, $862.95, $889.90, $889.81, about doubling in ten years.

The disbursements were as follows: $516.42, $528.67, $818.50, $864.64, $502.51, $780.67, $922.41, $1002.77, $724.75, $839.23. From 1866 onward the larger half of the disbursements of the society were made for educating Hawaiian girls. The salary of the principal of Kawaiahae Seminary was paid by the society, and girls were supported there and in other schools.

The list of presidents of the society during these ten years is as follows: S. T. Alexander, R. W. Andrews, H. H. Parker, Thos. G. Thurston, J. P. Cooke, H. A. P. Carter, E. P. Church, S. B. Dole, S. E. Bishop, H. Bingham. The vice presidents during the same period were:

H. A. P. Carter, J. P. Cooke, A. F. Judd, R. W. Andrews, C. J. Lyons, A.

F. C. Jones, F. H. H. A. P. Carter, S. B. Dole, and A. F. Judd. Recording secretaries were: William Andrews, E. M. Damon, A. A. Carter, J. T. Waterhouse Jr., R. W. Andrews, F. H. Dole, H. F. Bingham, H. W. Andrews, C. M. Cooke, and Robert Thurston.

The treasurers were: W. W. Hall for five years; Levi Chamberlain three years; and H. C. Jones for two years. During this decade, the present writer completed a missionary service of three and a half years among Hawaiians, at the isolated station of Hana, Maui, removing thence in the summer of 1865 to Lahainaluna Seminary, having gained some insight into Hawaiian social conditions and character, including a profound respect for the deep piety of many native Christians, as well as a sad perception of the debased social morality of a majority of church members.

THIRD DECADE.

Miss Martha Chamberlain gave an interesting account of the third decade as follows:

1873—President, Rev. Hiram Bingham. From the wealth of material afforded by the records of this society for the fifteen years that have been assigned her (from 1873 to 1887), the writer finds it indeed hard to choose. And she craves indulgence if she borrows her record—as a long historian in her office as corresponding secretary—with a story which goes back a little into the last decade, but which is of special interest tonight.

A memorial banner was prepared in 1870 to be carried in the grand procession to Kawaiahae church on the occasion of the jubilee of the American Protestant Mission to the Hawaiian Islands. It was an elegant creation, of spotless white satin, lettered in gold; a malle wreath with the word "Jubilee" on one side, on the other our name, with the date of our inauguration. It was bound with a border of rich green satin on both sides. I find in the minutes of the annual meeting for 1870 this note: "A committee of four ladies, consisting of Mrs. H. A. P. Carter, Miss Nellie Judd, Mrs. P. C. Jones and Mrs. W. W. Hall, were appointed to make a banner for the society for the approaching jubilee celebration." This banner is present here tonight. But listen to its history.

After being treasured with the greatest care for twenty years, it was sent after the death of Rev. H. O. Forbes, a former corresponding secretary of the Hawaiian Board, to his successor, Rev. Oliver P. Emerson, to the Girls' School at Kula, to be used as a parlor ornament. It chanced that the corresponding secretary, the Hon. H. M. B. Bingham, reading one of Miss Jessie Hopkin's circulating letters, learned that this treasured banner was there, and that when the marriage of one of the girls was to be celebrated, the green satin border had been ripped off and used to ornament the wedding costume. As soon as possible, a letter was sent to Miss Hopkin, asking for the return of what was left of the banner. Most fortunately it was returned in pretty good condition, and is exhibited here as a visible witness that this society has been a supporter of missions.

The year 1872 found us in the full tide of our missionary work. The opening sentence of the corresponding secretary's report that year will bear copying. "The record of twenty years is one of progress. To God be all the glory, and may another twenty years surprise us more. We find five sons and two daughters of this mission are now foreign missionaries, viz., Rev. H. Bingham, to Micronesia; Rev. L. H. Gulick and Mr. Wm. H. Gulick, to Spain; Rev. John T. Gulick, to China; Rev. O. H. Gulick and Miss Anna (Clarke) Gulick to Japan; and Miss Cyrene Van Duzee, to Persia; while four sons of this mission are laboring in home missions here. Rev. S. E. Bishop, Rev. A. O. Forbes, Rev. H. H. Parker and Rev. J. P. Green. In addition, Rev. Thomas G. Thurston is preaching in California, and Rev. James P. Chamberlain, in Wisconsin, while the number of missionary daughters engaged in the various boarding schools for girls of these islands is ten." Others have been added to this list since, but it is wonderful how many of these are still spared to us. At this period of our history we were supporting several Hawaiians as missionaries, stationed in Micronesia and the Marquesas Islands, and also educating their children in our schools here. The Rev. H. A. A. had returned to Honolulu for a vacation, but he died here soon after of pneumonia, leaving all his children to our care, and his little daughter Rachel as a legacy to the society. This darling child, our pet and protegee, lived only a year longer, and died very suddenly of heart disease at the Kawaiahae Seminary, a blessed little Christian.

In June, 1873, Rev. Hiram Bingham delivered the president's address on the "Difficulties Attending Bible Translation," and soon after he and Mrs. Bingham left again in the Morning Star, having the finished New Testament in Gilbertese taken down by them. In October of this year Miss Lydia Bingham resigned her charge of Kawaiahae Seminary and left for Hilo, Hawaii, as the wife of Rev. Titus Coan. Her sister, Miss Elizabeth B. Bingham, succeeded her, having as assistant Miss Lucinda F. Ingraham, a very dear friend, who had lately arrived from the U. S. S. The Koloa Girls' School was disbanded this year, and the Koloa, Hawaii, Boarding School was started. Missionary letters of great interest from Micronesia were received and translated from the Hawaiian language into English for printing. This year was made notable as being our forty-second year old. It was the proud boast of this society that it has been able to maintain itself, a "social missionary society," for fifty years, without having refreshments a necessity. Only twice has this record been broken. The first occasion was this majority anniversary. The officers of that year planned this as a surprise. No one shared the secret, but the small committee who aided them. The tables were spread, the rooms simply decorated in the afternoon; and then doors were closed and no lights appeared until after the close of annual meeting exercises in the old Fort street church, when the audience was invited to adjourn to the lecture room below, where flashing lights, open doors, and a smiling committee welcomed to a delightful hour. The extemporaneous speeches after the good cheer are not yet all forgotten after this lapse of years. Notable among them was the terse, sensible and witty address of Mrs. Lucy G. Thurston, the venerable missionary mother present. Her grandson, Robert T. Thurston, who was the willing and efficient recording secretary, had been much interested and helpful in aiding this surprise party.

It was after this evening that the desire arose to incorporate the names of all our fathers and mothers in our list of officers. The brief word more about Robert T. Thurston seems to be in place here. One year since was filled when that brave, strong, manly young man, who had barely attained his majority, succumbed to an accident from stepping on a marine insect in walking on the steps in his school vacation. About poisoning followed, and after a brief week of terrible illness, he unconsciously passed death, and giving up his will to the Divine Master, passed peacefully away amid the mourning of the whole community. An unusual expression of the sympathy was given by the fact that every family in town who had begun to use manufactured ice—an enterprise in its infancy then—gave up their supply for two days that there might be enough to use and preserve his remains, that his widowed mother (who had been sent for from a visit on Maui) might look once more on his face.

His—Lawrence McCully, president. This year saw the adoption of the resolution: "That the society admit by a single vote, as honorary members, all the surviving fathers and mothers of this mission, and likewise place upon this list the names of those who have departed this life, and that in the catalogue the dates of their arrival in this country, and the decease of those not living, be noted." This list was to be "printed every five years." The forty-ninth (i. e., last year's) report had in it this republished list in anticipation of the jubilee, and the number of dear survivors is now but six.

God bless them all! From the letter of Mother Thurston written in 1874, after she had received the twenty-third annual report, and seen this list, I quote part of the opening and closing sentences: " * * * Such a loving act touches the heart. I thank them for myself; I thank them for the living; I thank them for the dead * * * I only add that, by this reverential and hallowed act, the society encircle their own brows with a halo of glory. "LUCY G. THURSTON."

LOCAL BREVITIES.

(From Wednesday's daily.)

Oscar Lewis was a passenger to the coast on the Alameda.

Mrs. E. R. Folsom has returned from an extended visit on the mainland and is now at Hale Hala, Vineyard street, between Emma and Miller.

Supt. J. H. Boyd of the Department of Public Works and Director Jared Smith of the Agricultural Station departed for Hawaii on the Kinau yesterday.

The last kitchen in Haalelea Lawn, the last of the obstructions in the famous "stone wall," has been razed, and the workmen are now clearing away the debris.

At a meeting of the creditors of the Austin Publishing Company yesterday, Daniel Logan was appointed as trustee to carry on the business of the publishing concern.

Commissioner Wray Taylor will ship a box of mangoes to San Francisco on the Alameda today. The fruit is not going in cold storage, but on the open deck, as an experiment.

Baron Shibusawa, a Japanese official of high rank, and Professor Takamini, a noted Japanese scientist, are expected to pass through here on the America Maru, en route to London.

The new dynamo of the Hawaiian Electric Company is now being installed. When in position the power of the plant will be increased fully one-third. The cost of the improvement is about $40,000.

A meeting of the British residents will be held at the Hawaiian Hotel Monday next at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of making arrangements for celebrating the approaching coronation of His Britannic Majesty King Edward VII.

A meeting of the Japanese Temperance Society was held in Murphy Club hall on Monday evening, and the following officers elected: President, Dr. Mitamura; vice president, K. Tanaka; secretary, K. Komura; treasurer, S. Yamamori. Eight directors were also elected.

(From Thursday's daily.)

Mrs. E. W. Jordan announces the engagement of Miss Alice Luce to Mr. W. H. Soper.

The Hawaiian Evangelical Mission's annual meeting will be held in Lahaina the second week in June.

Alexander H. Smith, second son of Joseph Smith, and one of the leaders of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, will arrive here on the next steamer from the colonies and will hold a series of public meetings.

A Chinese hackman undertook to stop his horse from running away yesterday by blowing a whistle. The animal heeded not, and the hack was landed against a telephone pole near the capitol building with a broken wheel.

The new mill of the Japanese Rice Mill Company in Kewalo, near Pawaia, will be opened next Monday. The mill has been formally started, however, and a banquet was given to the stockholders and prominent Japanese, in honor of the occasion.

Japanese residents are arranging for a banquet to be given in honor of Baron Shibusawa, Professor Takamini and other distinguished Japanese, who are to represent that empire at the coronation of King Edward. The party is on the America Maru, which is expected to arrive from the Orient today.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Heen will take place next Sunday, services being held at St. Andrew's cathedral at 3 p. m. In the mean time the body will lie at the undertaking parlors of H. H. Williams.

Governor Cooper has received a letter from the Interior Department at Washington asking him to look up the whereabouts of Algernon Shaw, who disappeared in Honolulu a few years ago. Periodical searches have been made for Shaw ever since but without result.

Society is agog over the Bal Poudre, which is to be given this evening in Progress Hall. The costumes for the ballet are said to be gorgeous reproductions of those prevalent in colonial days and there will also be seen some stunning gowns of the most modern school. The minstrel is to be followed by a cotillon, concluding with a general dance.

THE MOST COMMON AILMENT.

More people suffer from rheumatism than from any other ailment. This is wholly unnecessary too, for a cure may be effected at a very small cost. G. W. Wesscott, of Mendocino, N. Y., U. S. A., says: "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for some time and it has caused me much suffering. I concluded to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm and am pleased to say that it has cured me." For sale by all dealers, and druggists. Benson Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

A PINK BOULET

And What Came from One Woman's Reading It.

A woman in Rome, N. Y., Mrs. W. T. Clark, was cured of stomach trouble and nervousness by a certain medicine and gave the manufacturers permission to use her statement recommending the preparation. This was published in a booklet and thrown around at the doors. Now Mrs. William Metot, also of Rome, was ailing, and, happening to read the book, came across the description of Mrs. Clark's case. In some respects their symptoms were similar, so she went to Mrs. Clark's home at No. 515 West Thomas street, and asked her about it. Mrs. Metot tells the story as follows:

"I had been miserable for a long time, suffering with the troubles which come with the turn of life. It made me sick to my stomach. I had made every effort to get well, but I walked any distance, my limbs felt like sticks. My head felt just as if I was going to be crazy and with it all I was afflicted with nervousness and heart trouble. I felt so bad that I did not see anything to live for.

"I went to a doctor but he didn't do me much good and so I was pretty well discouraged. Then I saw in a booklet that was thrown around how Mrs. Clark was cured. I went to see her and upon her recommendation I went that very day and got some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"I felt better before the first box was all taken and continued using them until I was well. My husband is sick and is going to take them and so is my sister. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People to many people and will continue to do so for I know what they will do from my own experience."

Mrs. Metot lives at No. 426 W. Bloomfield street, Rome, N. Y. Her statement is another proof of the well deserved popularity of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Among the many diseases they have cured are locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and all forms of weakness either in male or female. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, fifty cents a box; or six boxes for two dollars and a half, by addressing Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.
